Cited by Bill McKibben as "one of the key figures in the religious environmental surge," Rev. Fred Small is Minister for Climate Justice at Arlington Street Church, Boston.

A Unitarian Universalist parish minister for nearly two decades, Fred is also a singer-songwriter and environmental lawyer. In 2015, he left parish ministry to devote his energies to climate advocacy.

One of the first to engage in civil disobedience to draw attention to climate change, he was arrested with 21 others in prayer outside the US Department of Energy in Washington, DC, in May 2001. In March, 2007, he was a lead organizer of the Interfaith Walk for Climate Rescue from Northampton to Boston, Massachusetts. Grist Magazine has named him one of 15 Green Religious Leaders worldwide.

and Sunday Afternoon Workshops

Saturday, July 21,
& Sunday, July 22, 2018

Rolling Ridge
Retreat and Conference Center

Since its inception in 2011, the Peace Conference at Rolling Ridge has served as an important platform for healthy dialogue and inspirational hope. Diverse speakers over the years have addressed issues of peace-making, Earth tending, and interfaith reverence. This year during our 8th Annual Peace Conference, we will look at the spiritual foundations of environmental justice in the Abrahamic faith tradition. During the Saturday afternoon plenary, interfaith environmental leaders will share about the importance of creation care in their tradition and then discuss the common roots that unite them for action. Sunday afternoon workshops will delve deeper into Catholic, Jewish, and Muslim eco-spirituality, while also exploring practical opportunities to protect our common planetary home. During our closing service, we will celebrate our unity through song and prayer.

Interfaith Environmental Leaders at our 2018 Peace Conference

Ibrahim Abdul-Matin is the Director of Community Affairs at the NYC Department of Environmental Protection. Ibrahim has a long history working on environmental policy and served as the sustainability policy advisor to Mayor Bloomberg. Part environmentalist and part community organizer, he is former Outward Bound instructor, and is the author of

"Green Deen: What Islam teaches about protecting the Planet," which explores how faith and environmentalism intersect.

Rev. Margaret Bullitt-Jonas serves as Missioner for Creation Care in the Episcopal Diocese of Western Massachusetts and the United Church of Christ, Christ, Massachusetts Conference. An experienced retreat leader and spiritual director, she is a long-time climate activist dedicated to inspiring a wave of religious activism to address the climate crisis. Her most recent book, Joy of Heaven. To Earth Come Down (2016), is a collection of daily Advent-Christmas meditations on the sacredness of the natural world.

Rev. Norman Comtois, OMI, MA is an ordained Roman Catholic priest and member of the Missionary Oblates of Mary Immaculate. Since completing the Earth Literacy program at Genesis Farm, he now leads retreats and courses that bring the Universe Story to life in a spiritually relevant way. A team member and consultant for La Vista Ecological Learning Center, Father Norm encourages those attending his presentations and retreats to ponder the wisdom of their religious traditions in the context of the Story of the Universe.

Rabbi Judy Kummer is an environmental activist, teacher, and Executive Director of the Jewish Chaplaincy Council of Massachusetts. A Boston native, she earned a BA from Barnard College in Environmental Studies and Urban Planning and was ordained at the Reconstructionist Rabbinical College in Philadelphia. Rabbi Kummer is an avid organic gardener, potter, and hiker.

SUNDAY MORNING OPTIONS:

For full-time registrants, Sunday includes breakfast, complimentary yoga class, optional worship service, working at the Giving Garden, walking the Stations of Creation, experiencing the Universe Story, and enjoying the Rolling Ridge grounds.
